Our Story

My dad’s favorite hobby is cooking and his dream has always been to start a food truck business. Growing up, he would regularly jot down food truck names and concepts that would come to mind. One of his most notable ideas struck after eating duck as a family during Thanksgiving and Christmas instead of Turkey. Because my dad enjoys both cooking and eating duck, he thought to create a food truck that sells duck-related dishes. Now, I take care of the logistical side of things to give my dad a space to do what he loves: connect with people through food.
